ACTION-PACKED FIRST ISSUE!!

The Presidents' Club

AMAZING tales of ADVENTURE in SECURITY!!!

The UN-keynote

When I was asked to give a keynote at my FAVOURITE Security conference I was honoured!

I reflected back on my career and what I learned over the years to offer up the audience.

Each story or anecdote was deeply tied to many of the great people sitting here.

I realized it wasn't MY story that was valuable to tell

...it was OURS

TEAM ASSEMBLE!!!

EXCELCIOR!

We are assembling a team of experienced security-ologists to share the wisdom and insights they've earned over the ‹cough cough› years they have been practitioners

Cast of Characters

01
The OSS Pirate

Tragic tale of love, loss, and penguins

02
Captain SPAM

Versatile AND Tasty!

03
The Dark Billy

Who turned out the lights around here?

04
Radioman!

The man with a face for radio!

CRob

Kidnapped at an early age by a crew of Open Source Pirates, CRob has sailed the Seven Seas helping people articulate and manage their Risks. He enjoys moonlit walks on the beach, herding cats, and wearing hats.

Along the way he has helped sell a lot of free software (and make the OSS ecosystem a better place for maintainers, researchers, and consumers).

Joe Daw

"After a life of crime and trying to find his way, Joe ended up working on a 3rd shift at a Spam factory in Venezuela. After months of long nights making and canning Spam and also reading the nutritious value, Joe knew there had to be a better way.

One night, he decided to change and knew he had to join forces and fight all Spam where it exists in every form. That's when Joe discovered the annoying form of Spam that was being delivered to everyone's inboxes daily. He knew this had to be stopped. And ever since then, Joe has been fighting the good fight and is known in criminal circles as Captain Spam! "
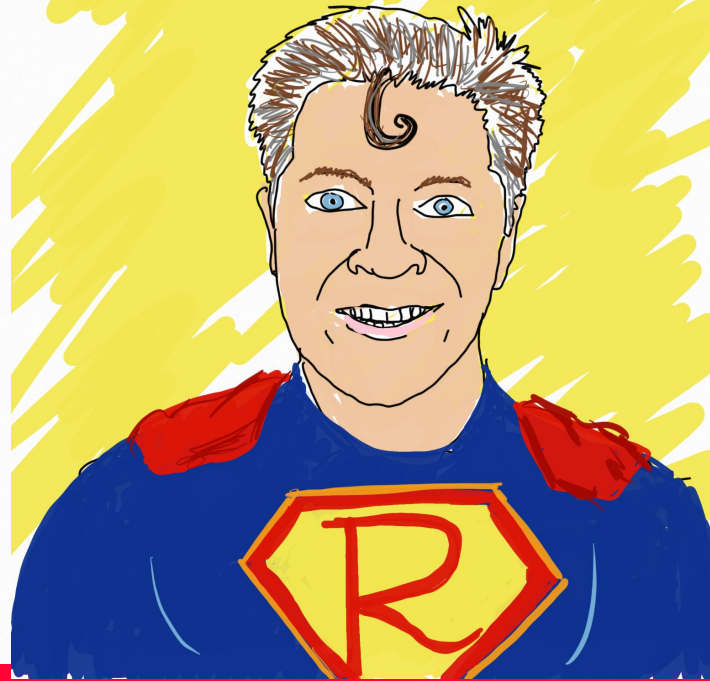

Billy Heiser

"Born and raised in Cleveland, Billy has worked for domestic, international and now a global organization. Always passionate about helping others get into the field of cybersecurity, Billy has been a champion of new helping early career people along with peers along their way. He also has been know to rescue random animals including a stray pelican on Lake Erie (yes that happened). Some say he's funny, some say funny looking, but at the end of the day, he always looks for the positive side of every situation."

Robert Nettgen

What the heck were you thinking getting into security? Did you ever envision yourself where you are today?

Describe your journey here, what do you think has changed the most over the years?

Most of us here came up through networking/access controls route, how much broader has our career field gotten?

Where do you see our field going and evolving into in the next 5 years? 10 years?

What are the basics you learned "back in the day" that still serve you today?

Resources

Did you like the resources on this template? Get them for free at our other different websites:

Vectors

- Superheroes cartoon comic strip electronic games characters with superman batwoman spider man wonder woman isolated
- Superhero banners set
- Superheroes horizontal banners
- Superhero square shadow icons set with power symbols

- Superhero masks set
- Set of comics speech and explosion bubbles. colored with text on transparent background

THANKS,
True-Believers!

CREDITS: This presentation template was created by Slidesgo, including icons by Flaticon and infographics & images by Freepik